

ArchiStar signs distribution agreement with Proptiger

13th December 2017

ArchiStar is pleased to announce a comprehensive distribution agreement has been signed with Proptiger and Housing.com. Proptiger will distribute ArchiStar products and services throughout the Indian market to consumers, property developers and real estate agents.

The key ArchiStar products for the Indian market include a world-first instant Vastu assessment platform and a sunlight analysis platform.

“We’re excited to partner with India’s leading real estate portal. This partnership allows Indian consumers and businesses to have unique insights into environmental and design factors when they are making important property decisions” says Dr. Benjamin Coorey, Founder & CEO, Archistar

ArchiStar and Proptiger are now working together on market testing and systems integration.

About ArchiStar

ArchiStar is a fast growing proptech startup based in Sydney, Australia. The ArchiStar Property platform enables Developers to instantly determine the development potential of any block of land. ArchiStar uses architectural parametric technology and government controls to identify development hotspots.
